

MEDIA RELEASE

Thursday 17th October 2013

Vegetable Gardens on Display

Stawell residents will again have the opportunity to take a sneak peak at some of the most productive vegetable gardens in the region on Saturday November 16.

Stawell Urban Landcare is hosting an Open Kitchen Garden Day in Stawell and surrounds with a range of workshops and food producing gardens on display.

Stawell Urban Landcarer Bronwyn Bant said the Open Kitchen Garden weekend is designed to inspire and motivate local residents to grow their own fruit and vegetables.

“We’re pleased to be able to showcase a number of local veggie patches that have used innovative approaches to ensure a bumper supply of fruit and vegetables to feed their families” said Ms Bant.

We’re also really excited at the line-up of workshops we have on offer this time round, which includes backyard bee keeping, growing olives and making your own sour dough bread.

“To help cover the costs of running the event, we’re asking attendees to pay a $5 entry fee. For this price, you can visit all of the gardens on display as well as attend as many of the workshops as you like” said Ms Bant. Entry fees and a map to the gardens are available at the Project Platypus office, 11a Ararat Rd Stawell, from 9.30am onwards.

For all the open kitchen garden day details including workshop times, head to the Project Platypus website www.platypus.org.au, or follow Project Platypus on Facebook.

Photo IMG 4171

Insert caption

“This Open Kitchen Garden weekend will feature a newly established food producing garden in Pomonal.”

End of release

MEDIA CONTACT:

Project Platypus Event Coordinator Bronwyn Bant

0400 593 500 bronwyn@platypus.org.au

www.platypus.org.au